

Is America past the point of no return?

America faces significant financial challenges, including a rising national debt and unfunded liabilities[1]. Fundamental reforms are needed to avoid potential economic collapse[1]. Additionally, the nation has many challenges including: an alcohol and drug addicted citizenry, a dying dollar and lawlessness[2]. America would do well to return to its Judeo-Christian roots before it's too late[3].

[1] Rosenberg, J. C. (2012). Implosion: Can America Recover from Its Economic and Spiritual Challenges in Time?. Tyndale Momentum.

[2] Chandler, H. E. (1966). Let's Unmask John Barleycorn. Christianity Today, 10(14), 720.

[3] Godfrey, W. R. (2017). Continuing the Reformation. Tabletalk Magazine, 41(10), 34.